25, A Little Note from US (March 25, 2025)

Once upon a time (okay... last year a), this dream started in a tiny place called Tippecanoe. We promised that every child there would have the chance to publish their stories and art, with full copyright. But something unexpected happened... the dream grew.

Today, we're opening this opportunity to every child aged 0-6 around the world.

Tippecanoe will always be our first spark—the little corner where our publishing house began. But now? We're building a campfire big enough for the whole planet to gather around.

So if you're reading this from somewhere far away—this includes you too. Welcome in.
