Dear Friend,

I've got an idea for making our own TV.

We start with a picture sent to a battery, adding colors and words for learning. Then we mix in sounds. We'll check temperatures and even make machines that can talk. Finally, we'll add colors and sounds to create our show. Outside, we'll have a system that brings drawings, colors, and words together to make music and numbers appear on TV. We'll send light through a special pipe to make it all work.
